

MAKE

Background

MAKE an award winning danish design consultancy, chose Ovdal to implement its simple and elegantly designed new website.

Ovdal who happens to be a long term business partner of MAKE opted not to base the solution on a custom CMS system, but instead hand coded the site to ensure full design control as the design aspect happens to be the clients core product.

In this way the custom made HTML-solution ensured that it was possible to create fluid transitions between different color gradients when scrolling down through the site.

Solution

The result is a beautiful and fast responding scroll-down-site, which presents what MAKE is all about, their approach and their finest cases.

We always consider the user situation carefully before choosing the technology, and in this case it just made no sense to go for a classic content management system. Especially because the look and feel of the site was imperative to how MAKE wanted to present themselves to future clients and partners.
